Art Unit: 2833

Claims 1-9 are objected to because of the following informalities: they are replete with instances of poor wording due to translation. For instance, in claim 1, lines 5 and 6, it is unclear what "therein" and "thereof" refer to. In claim 2, line 3, the first instance of "has" should be – have –; on line 4 "excavated" is confusing. Each of the claims must be reviewed for proper grammar and terminology. Care must be taken to ensure that all limitations have proper antecedent basis (e.g. claim 5, lines 3-4, "said radially reduced portion") Appropriate correction is required.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the specification and abstract are replete with instances of poor wording due to translation (similar to those noted above in the claims).

Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Khemakhem et al 6702613.

Disclosed (Figure 3) are metallic end pieces 112,116 separated by an insulation member 114, outer hard metallic receiving portion 124, and external sleeve 120.

Art Unit: 2833

Claims 2-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: none of the prior art of record, particularly the applied art, discloses or teaches the outer hard metallic receiving portion as being a turned piece with holes, lock holes, and an upper side opening; nor the metallic receiving piece having a shoulder, the external sleeve having a radially reduced portion with a through hole and a thread for connecting with a fixing sleeve; nor the front portion with the circling blades deeply extending into a radially reduced portion with only a part of an upper edge thereof exposed.

The other references cited on Form 892 disclose similar coaxial connectors.
